Mountain Home Project Office

This hunting regulations guide only covers the basic regulations. For detailed regulations please refer to the 2021 Summary of MO Hunting and Trapping Regulations or the official Missouri Department of Conservation Code of Regulations available at www.mdc.mo.gov

All persons are required to hunt in accordance with all applicable State and Federal regulations.

Bull Shoals Lake, located in Baxter, Boone, and Marion counties in Arkansas and Ozark and Taney counties in Missouri, was constructed in 1951 for flood control and power generation. The public land around the lake includes approximately 60,000 acres of rugged forest and upland areas that provide a buffer that ensures high water quality as well as habitat for wildlife. Most of the area is open to hunting, fishing, wildlife viewing, and nature photography; however, hunting is not allowed within recreational park boundaries and service areas.
